The Role of a Host Family

United States Exchange Visitor Program

The Exchange Visitor Program promotes mutual understanding between the people of the United States (U.S.) and the people of other countries by educational and cultural exchanges, under the provisions of U.S. law. Exchange Programs provide an extremely valuable opportunity to experience the U.S. and our way of life, thereby developing lasting and meaningful relationships.

In carrying out the responsibilities of the Exchange Visitor Program, the Department of State (DOS) designates public and private entities to act as exchange sponsors. Designated sponsoring organizations facilitate the entry of foreign nationals into the U.S. as exchange visitors. The first step for a prospective nonimmigrant exchange visitor is to be accepted in an established exchange visitor program that is Student and Exchange Visitor Program \(SEVP\) certified. At the conclusion of their program, Exchange Visitor program participants are expected to return to their home countries to utilize the experience and skills they have acquired while in the U.S. Questions regarding the Rotary Youth Exchange program should be directed to local Rotary representatives or scryeinfo@gmail.com.

A Summary of Host Family Responsibilities in RYE Programs

The host family is a critical element in any cultural exchange program for youth, providing a first-hand opportunity to experience a new culture and to help others to better understand the culture that they represent. The Rotary program is distinct from other exchange programs because it is operated completely by volunteers around the world. Each student participant and each host family is carefully selected and actively supported by Rotary volunteers within their own community. Host families are in close contact with volunteers from a local Rotary club and Rotary district who will guide and assist them throughout their experience.

Hosting a student can be an extremely rewarding experience for everyone in a family, but of course, there are responsibilities. Most are natural since they are what a family would expect to do for one of its own children. Following is a list of responsibilities a family would want to consider in accepting the role of a host family.

Before the student arrives:

- Participate in training and orientation sessions provided by program officers.
- Establish communication with the student.
- Understand the program rules that the student must follow.
- Know how to contact key Rotary Youth Exchange leaders and community services in case of an emergency.

During the exchange:

- Provide a safe, welcoming environment to encourage the development of trust and friendship between the student and host family.
- Help the student feel like a part of the family, with the same privileges and obligations.
- Gently help the student adjust to the ways of the family household and the new culture.
- Provide room and board for the student. All students must have their own bed. If they must share a bedroom, then it must be with a child of the same gender.
- Provide a place in the home where the student may study undisturbed.
- Recognize the student's birthday and other special occasions.
- Ensure the student knows how to contact family members, friends, and other support networks.
- In case of an emergency, know how to access and use the student's insurance policy.
- Voice any concerns and questions regarding the student to his/her Rotary counselor, including serious homesickness, difficulty adapting to family life or school, or illness.
- Maintain close contact with the host club, and address problems and concerns quickly.
- Exercise supervisory and parental responsibility to ensure the student's well being.
- Encourage involvement in community life by introducing the student to neighbors, friends, and local groups.
- Help the student understand the local culture, and take an interest in the culture of the student's home country.
- Advise the student about matters related to school, family, friends and community.
